

Lying on a silver spider web in space
the rain drops make music on the strings of my bed ;
bouncing and floating in the magic net
I pluck the silver chords with my toes
and the music keeps coming.
I am a star now
and still the music.
The man who brought me here
will be remembered.

Nov. 68