

November

Part way down the twisted path
I stopped
twisting words to mean something and wondered where I was.

Half way through a conversation
I listened to the torrential silence of the words and pondered what I said.

Part way through my tortured dream
I woke
the fear of waking fear
and stepped a little closer to the gulf.

CMC November 69